A Farmer's Fire League.
In Farm and Fireside is an account of a fire-fighting organization of farmers that might advantageously be put in force throughout the United States:

"At Oakdale, a rural district in California, the frequent forest fires were a constant menace to settlers. It was a well-timbered section, and owing to its beauty, campers were numerous during the pleasant weather.

"One fall, after an unusual amount of destruction had been caused by fires, the Farmers' Fire League was formed. A social was given which everyone attended, and the first funds for the society were raised.

Axes, long-handled rakes, and hoes, besides other implements, were procured and distributed at the various small 'clubs' built as fire-fighting stations in convenient places. On a high hill they established a 'lookout' and the simplest of telephone systems, also a comprehensive code of signals. At the first appearance of fire, notice was given all along the line and the league members from far and near rallied at the danger points. When necessary, day and night brigades were formed.

"Year by year the league has grown in efficiency. Since its beginning in the autumn of 1912, losses by fire have been comparatively small, and there is a feeling of security, which was formerly absent."

Bad Cooking Cause of Divorce.
In the current issue of Farm and Fireside is an article to prove that love and a well filled stomach go well together, but that hatred and treachery are born in an underdone steak.

"Bad cooking is directly responsible for a large percentage of the divorce evil and much of the crime committed—in fact it might well be classed as a crime in itself.

"A good cook is the greatest statesman in the country in the true sense of the term.

"Bank examining is all well enough for its purposes, but the examination of cooks and kitchens is far more important. Of what avail are our pure food laws if all food may be ruined in the kitchen?"

"No one should be permitted to cook in any public eating house who has not been examined, found competent, and licensed; and bad cooking—such as now exists in many public places—should be a misdemeanor punishable by law."

REFORM IN BRITISH LAW AVOID LABOR TROUBLES

London, Dec. 16.—A bill to amend the munitions act has been drafted to meet complaints that provisions of the original act are unjust. Serious labor troubles are threatened unless reforms are brought about; the sense of grievance among munition workers in Scotland, particularly, having become almost as bitter as it can be without revolt.

Under the original act, it is necessary for men, wives, leave the government-controlled factories to get certificates from their employers before they can obtain work elsewhere. Many employers have refused to grant such certificates to men they have dismissed. A proposed amendment makes it obligatory for the employer to furnish certificates even to discharged men and it also forbids him to endorse on the paper the offences that caused the discharge. It is expected this change will do much to conciliate the complaining workers.

A second amendment extends the application of the act. It states that munition work, for the purposes of the act, shall include not only all direct work on munitions, but all subsidiary work such as building and repair work on munitions factories, the supply of light and power for the manufacture of munitions, and the manufacture of machinery and raw material for munitions. This practically all war work for the government and all the working people employed in it come under government control, which means the employees lose the right to strike and even the right to leave a job voluntarily.

The labor party has asked for still another change. All offences against the act are tried before a tribunal at present composed of a chairman appointed by the minister of munitions and two other members representing employers and employees, respectively, the decision being left to the chairman. The labor leaders ask that employers and workers be given two representatives each, and the decision go to the majority of the five votes, the accused reserving the right to appeal to the courts. They also ask that when a workman is tried for neglect of duty and acquitted, that he be paid for the time spent in court.

Standardization of wages and working conditions is also asked as the proper corollary of the measure depriving the workman of the right to strike or leave his job. This will be considered when the bill is brought up in parliament.

There is also discussion of the proposition of giving women representation on the tribunal on account of the large number of women workers employed in munitions factories.

Mr. Lloyd George, the minister of munitions, has recently circulated a letter to the effect that the best possible use is not being made of other machinery or labor in government-controlled establishments. He finds that there is too large a proportion of skilled men employed in proportion to the semi-skilled or unskilled, while in some districts night shifts are not properly organized.

Employers are requested to furnish detailed information as to the assignment of their skilled labor and to take steps to replace skilled men with unskilled men or women wherever possible so as to use the skilled workers as foremen for increased work.

In a subsequent letter, Lloyd George says he intends to form a new set of rules governing the employment and wages of women. The question of pay of women and unskilled men has been difficult to solve on account of the jealous regard of the labor union for their old rights and privileges, so the government has to guard against the war-workers appearing in the light of strike breakers in unions eyes and against jeopardizing the future positions of union men after the war.

Quick Witted.
A lecturer who protested against people going to sleep during his disquisitions on heathen lands, would, if he perceived any tendency in that direction, introduce some queer or startling statement to revive their flagging attention. On one occasion, when his audience seemed rather somnolent, he thundered out: "Ah you have no idea of the suffering of Englishmen in Central America, on account of the enormous mosquitoes."

A great many of these pests would weigh a pound, and they will get on the legs and bark as the white men are passing.

By this time all ears and eyes were wide open, and he proceeded to finish his lecture. The next day he was called upon to account for his extraordinary statements. "Well, I didn't say one mosquito would weigh a pound," he protested. "I said a great many of them would. I think perhaps a million of them might do so."

"But you said they bark as the missionaries," persisted the interlocutor. "No, no, my dear sir, I said they would get on the legs and on the bark. You understand me."

Thankful For Relief Remedy Brought Her

See Fruitola and Traxo Possesses All the Merit That Is Claimed for It.

After completing the necessary treatment, Mrs. S. S. Cole, Lampasas, Texas, was so well pleased with the results that she wrote the Pinus laboratories as follows: "Fruitola and Traxo are all you claim. It removed a quantity of gall-stones and I feel sure it saved my life. I am well now and thankful to you for the great good your medicine has done me.

Fruitola is a powerful lubricant for the intestinal organs and one dose is usually sufficient to clearly demonstrate its efficacy. It softens the congested masses, disintegrates the hardened particles that occasion so much suffering and expels the accumulated waste to the great relief of the patient. Following a dose of Fruitola, Traxo should be taken three or four times a day in order to rebuild and restore the system that has become weakened and run down from constant suffering. It is a splendid tonic, acting on the liver and stomach most beneficially.

Fruitola and Traxo are prepared in the Pinus laboratories at Monticello, Ill., and arrangements have been made to supply them through representative druggists. In Anderson they can be obtained at Evans' Pharmacy, Three Stores.

Accuracy in Newspapers.
Professor Hugo Munsterberg is a professor of psychology at Harvard. His head is filled with ideas, and he knows many things. But some things he doesn't know. For instance, he has been taking a fling recently at newspaper reporters, who, he says, habitually distort what men say and do, and the professor regards this as a bad thing for public morals. Evidently the professor's experience has been with the metropolitan newspaper. On these newspapers a vast quantity of news must be gathered in an extraordinarily short time. Accuracy is aimed at and attained to a remarkable degree. But the metropolitan press is out a very small part of the country's press.

Professor Munsterberg is provincial, like many other dwellers in eastern cities. In the small towns the people are close to their newspaper. Frequently the editor knows everybody in the county. Accuracy becomes a deadly necessity. No reporter or editor who is worthy the name dares say he does not care whether what he writes is true or not. His profession and his pride in it demand that he gives to it the best he has in him. Accuracy, attention to detail, truth are only some of the things he must give to his paper. Professor Munsterberg may be a great psychologist, but he will never be a great man until he learns that outside of Harvard, Boston and New York there is a great country filled with newspapers and newspaper men, and that in the lot the verbal, the deliberately untruthful, the mountebank are as scarce as exactitude is in psychology.

THIRTY PER CENT PROFIT ON SPECULATION EVEN GREATER PROFIT ON INVESTMENT

We have a single tract of approximately 850 acres of rich, Chattahoochee river bottom land, situated in Stewart county Georgia, within twenty five miles of Columbus, which we will sell for SEVENTY per cent of what adjacent farm lands are selling for now.

Of this entire plantation, there is one portion of about 300 acres which we would sell separately. Of this smaller tract there are 120 acres cleared, and under cultivation now; the balance—about 180 acres, is in woodland. On the entire plantation there are fifteen tenant houses, barns and necessary outbuildings, and one large eight room dwelling house. The Seaboard Airline railroad runs through this place, and there is a sidetrack on the farm. There are 40 acres of nut bearing Pecan trees on the plantation at present.

This is a very desirable plantation, and to a practical farmer of grit, determination, some means; and who is not afraid of the work necessary in the management of such a plantation, this offers the opportunity of a lifetime.

Our only reason for offering this magnificent plantation at such a tremendous sacrifice is strictly a personal one, and we will give it to all interested parties, privately.

We will pay the expense of a trip to Stewart county if the investor, or his backers, buy the tract of land or any part of it. There are quite a few Anderson county people living in Stewart county Ga. now.
